INTRODUCTION

The Financial Reporting and Financial Statement Analysis programme provides professionals with the essential tools to effectively interpret, analyse, and report financial information. Focusing on core financial statements, the programme starts with an in-depth exploration of The Income Statement, The Statement of Financial Position, and The Cash Flow Statement, helping participants understand how these reports reflect a company's financial health. The module on Free Cash Flows offers key insights into assessing a firm's ability to generate cash, which is vital for making informed investment and financial decisions.

As participants progress, they will delve into more advanced topics including how to consolidate financial statements for multi-entity organisations. The programme culminates with a detailed study of Financial Analysis, where learners will apply techniques to assess performance, profitability, and financial stability. With this comprehensive knowledge, participants will be equipped to accurately evaluate financial statements, enabling them to make better decisions and provide strategic insights in various business contexts.
